

I have lived in a totalitarian country, where there was no competition, either in business or politics. It doesn't work; almost everyone is a loser in such a system. Please don't let it happen here; healthy competition is the only check on big corporations and their practices.